

Publications of Robert William Thomson

TIMOTHY GREENWOOD

As indicated by his authorship of A Bibliography of Classical Armenian Literature to 1500 AD and its supplement in volume 120 of Muséon, Robert Thomson was an assiduous compiler of scholarly references. His method was traditional, comprising a card catalogue of individual handwritten entries, which were systematically organized in alphabetical order and kept in long, narrow boxes. His willingness to publish the fruits of his research through these two invaluable publications was anything but traditional. Such enterprises are usually the preserve of research institutions or project teams, not the conscientious endeavor of an individual. In his own inimitable fashion, having identified a need, Thomson quietly but persistently addressed it. As he noted in the preface to the volume, his primary purpose was to “offer to those who are not specialist researchers in Armenian studies a guide to what they may find in this still little known area.”<sup>1</sup> In fact, these remain the first resources to which many specialist researchers turn to this day. Yet surprisingly, but perhaps typically, Thomson never gathered his own publications into a single definitive list—at least not to my knowledge—and without a personal website, blog, or online presence, the numerous publications in his years of retirement after 2001 in particular may not be well-known. The following represents an attempt to remedy this gap and construct such a list.<sup>2</sup>

I am very grateful for the assistance of Fiona Golden in the preparation of this bibliography and to my colleagues at the University of St Andrews for awarding Fiona an undergraduate research internship in the autumn of 2022 to enable its timely completion. Any omissions and errors are, of course, my own responsibility.
